2021 DENVER FRINGE FESTIVAL OFFERS VARIETY AND "ARTS FOR ALL"

Denver, CO -- 6/15/21

The Denver Fringe Festival is back for its second year June 24-27 as a hybrid festival with 37 distinct shows, both live performances at indoor and outdoor venues in Five Points/RiNo Art District as well as live-streaming and pre-recorded shows.

Named "Best New Festival" in Westword's 2021 Best of Denver listing, the Denver Fringe Festival features a variety of performing arts including original theatre, comedy, circus, magic, immersive and more at four venues within roughly a square mile of each other in the RiNo/Five Points area.The proximity of the venues is by design, to encourage people to see multiple shows in the same night.

"We attract a lot of variety and innovation because we're an open access festival," says Ann Sabbah, Executive Director. "We keep our venues within the same part of town and our ticket prices low to encourage people to see a few different things."

One of the central goals of the Denver Fringe Festival is to make the arts accessible to all. "We want to make it possible for more artists to get their work in front of audiences, and for more people to experience live performance."

This year even includes a KidsFringe with family-friendly shows and free workshops for kids at the KidsFringe hub at the Zabiti circus wagon at 26th and Curtis streets.

Tickets are just $15 and most kids shows are free. Tickets are available at denverfringe.org.
